

Keyur Patel

Dr Keyur Patel is the Clinical Director at the multi award winning Tompkins Knight and Son Optometrists, Northampton, UK. He has specialist interest in therapeutics, dry eye, myopia, sports vision and contact lenses, as well as Glaucoma (spending some of his working week within a community glaucoma service).

Keyur graduated from City University in 1999 and after 5 years in practice ventured to the United States, where he completed the accelerated O.D. program at the New England College of Optometry, Boston. After completing a residency in Community Health, he returned to England.

Upon his return, to maintain the increased level of care afforded to him, he completed Diplomas in Therapeutics, Glaucoma and Sports Vision.

He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Optometrists, College of Optometrists and the British Contact Lens Association.

Keyur has been a clinical instructor for NECO, City University, WOPEC, Alcon University, Topcon University and is lucky enough to be considered a KOL.

Keyur had a keen interest in imaging and regularly shares clinical images and insights on social media as @Optomegeek
